

Ian Carlsen is a local bird guide with over nine years of experience birding in Maine. He's a former research assistant for the book Birds of Maine, has led walks for the Maine Audubon Society, and currently writes about birding for the blog EcoOrnis. When he's not birding, he works as a freelance actor, writer, and film producer in Maine and New England.